

As we approach the upcoming season of Pesach-Passover we are called to reflect on the past and at the same time look to the future. The Bible tells of many instances where the people were called to remember what God had done in their lives and to remember how he continued to work in their midst. There are instances where the people did a good job of remembering the past and there are also many times where the people quickly forgot the miracles and works of God in their past.

Recently I took a day/week to spend time fasting and praying for those who have been used by God in my life to bring me closer and deeper in a relationship to God.

I began by thanking God for the past generations that I didn't even know that probably prayed for the future generations of their children and grandchildren. Those words spoken years before I was born, continue to live and breathe. The prayers that we pray continue into the future. My family did not attend church, read the Bible or even speak of spiritual things. Yet my heart was drawn to seek those things. I am sure that somewhere in my history was a generation that prayed for their descendants.

Psalm 78:6, "That the generation to come might know even the children yet to be born. That they may arise and tell them to their children."

I remembered picking up a comic book-like pamphlet at a gardening store when I was in 4th grade. It showed the story of a man that made bad decisions and was eventually led to salvation. As a fourth grader I loved the pictures and the story stuck with me. I am thankful for those that place and produce Christian materials for others to see. Organizations like the Gideons have done countless work making sure that Bibles were in lots of places available to people like me.

I remember the kind neighbor that during my 5th grade year gave me my first Bible. She invited me to go to church with her but my parents didn't like that, and I was not allowed to go. They thought she was pushy and didn't want her interfering in their "business." They let me keep the Bible and I read it several times.

I remember the family of a Jr. High friend invited me to their house to sometimes spend Saturday nights hanging out with their daughter, eating popcorn and watching, "Creature Feature." A funny scary movie night that seems very mild by today's standards. Sunday morning we would eat a big Swedish breakfast and go to church. It was during that time that I made a commitment to Christ. Going to the front altar of a church and praying to ask God to be the savior of my life.

I remember the girl on my college dorm floor that invited me to a Bible Study with an organization called the Navigators. There I learned invaluable tools to study the Bible and memorize verses. We participated in lots of fun activities. She called me out when I was starting to date guys that were not Christians. Those words that she spoke to me stayed with me for the rest of my college years. I learned how to lead a Bible study and share my faith with others.

I remember the many miracles that God worked into my life when I was looking for my first teaching job and where to go to church. I remember how in a few very dark times of walking away from God and leaning into things that were not meant to be part of a Christian's life how God did not leave the lost sheep lost. He went and brought me back to be where I belonged with the other sheep.

I remember after being married and moving to a new community many people invited us to their home for Sunday dinner, to learn how to bake bread, to enjoy a simple barbecue. We were welcomed by many and felt the joy of having a faith family. Something I never had growing up.

I remember when our first child was born asking Kurt and Arloa Harthoorn how to do devotions with children, and what that looked like. They shared a devotion book they used. We watched many families model how to raise children in faith. Something that I did not grow up with.

Every person placed a seed into my life and I wanted to pray and thank each one. Many did not see the harvest but only saw the seed being put into the ground. Sometimes it is discouraging to invite someone and receive a "no." It sometimes seems fruitless to give money to organizations that produce materials to be placed in the hands of those we do not know. It sometimes is exhausting to think about cleaning your house to invite a guest over. But let me encourage everyone to know that whatever seed you plant God waters and brings to harvest. During this season of remembrance take time to remember those who have invested in your spiritual walk but also to invest in the spiritual life of someone else.

Prayer: Dear Lord, Help us to live lives that sow into others. To know that every seed that is planted is an opportunity for you to work and to water and to harvest. Psalm 126:5-6, "Those who sow in tears shall reap with shouts of joy! He who goes out weeping, bearing the seed for sowing, shall come home with shouts of joy, bringing his sheaves with him. Amen

The month of April is always bittersweet for me. There are so many new beginnings: the first flowers begin to bloom, the reminder that God is making all things new through the message of Easter, and so much more. But April always brings about a lot of endings too. We wrap up our youth ministry year with the last few youth groups this month. We will say goodbye to seniors and send them off to bigger and better things. But through all of that God offers us the chance to look back on this year and celebrate what He has done and gives us a welcome reminder that He's not done yet.

We have our annual Middle School Retreat coming up at the beginning of this month. Would you please pray for our 18 students who will be attending that retreat? Pray for powerful encounters with the presence of God, for vulnerability to process everything going on, and for a spirit of joy in our fellowship all weekend.

Please also pray for our high school students whose schedules are flooded at this time of year. Pray that God would overwhelm them with His peace, that they would make space to have focused, uninterrupted time with their Lord and Savior.

What a beautiful time of year, and hopefully one we will cherish.

THANKING GOD FOR:

- α. Our season in Lesvos wrapping up as smoothly as possible despite the quick transition (keep reading for more details).
- β. The specific apartment we found in Athens in a great location and with comfortable space.
- γ. The generosity of friends and family as we were setting up a new home.
- δ. The programming projects that Pavlos completed for the Greek Bible College and the Eurorelief office.
- ε. The assignment of two new video series to translate for the BibleProject.
- ς. The memories made and the lessons learned while living in Lesvos for a year and a half.
- ζ. Being welcomed back to our Kypseli church family.

TRUSTING GOD WITH:

- α. The ongoing practical needs of our transition back to Athens such as finding doctors, getting to know what is available in our neighborhood, and completing the many little projects that make a house into a home.
- β. Pavlos' ministry vision—to create a team of people who regularly consult with various ministries to meet their technical and software development needs for free.
- γ. Our continued partnership with the BibleProject to make more and more of their video library available in Greek.
- δ. Our summer visit to the USA. May we have wisdom as we plan our schedule to fit in every church family and person we want to see.
- ε. Meggan's ongoing health concerns.

We are forever grateful for the time we spent in Lesvos and for all of the perspective we gained about the refugee situation as we befriended those working inside and outside the camps. Meggan enjoyed her role in Eurorelief's office, and Pavlos was glad to use his skills to help solve an efficiency problem. We also enjoyed offering hospitality to ministry workers for several months.

As we resettle in Athens, we look forward to getting involved with new projects while also continuing to translate BibleProject videos that will fit right into the YouVersion Bible app reading plans.

Kendall & Marlene Rozendaal Birthdays:

Kendall—March 14

Marlene—December 25

Asher—April 13

Anniversary: June 24, 1988

Kendall Rozendaal grew up in the rural Sully home of Alvin and Shirley Rozendaal with his brother Duane (Dia) and sister Carol (Monty) Lukehart. He graduated from Lynnville-Sully High School with the class of 1985 and is a farmer on their Century Farm north of Sully.

Marlene Mathes lived on a farm near Pella with her brother Boyd (Amy) Mathes and parents Dwight and Neva Mathes. She is a graduate of the Pella Community School District and Central College in Pella. Marlene is an IT Business Analyst at Pella Corporation.

Like most couples in the 80's Kendall and Marlene "scooped the loop" on the Pella square. This is where many guys and gals met their future husband or wife! They were married in the First Baptist Church in Pella on a day in June when it was 104 degrees! Their family has grown since those early days and they have been blessed with three children. Blake, their oldest is married to Rachel and they have two children Eliza, who is four and Bennett, who is 2. Riley is married to Kim and they live north of Sully; and Asher who is in the seventh grade at Lynnville-Sully.

While spending time as a family, they enjoy camping or boating. They would love to take their camper van across the country someday! Kendall and Marlene have a garden in the summer that they reap the benefits of all year long.

At First Reformed they appreciate the youth group activities that Asher is currently a part of as well as the programs their older kids participated in when they were that age.

Thank you Rozendaal family for letting us "Get To Know You Better!"
